Some Place Names

Mälilla is a parish (a church-oriented legal community) in Kalmarlän (similar to a county) in Småland (like a state) in Sweden. It once was spelled Molilja and also Molilla. The community of Mörlunda, important to the Carl Gustav Seashores, is just to its south. Gårdveda is a community next to Mälilla. Wirserums parish lies southwest of Mälilla. Hagelsrum is a large farm so-named since about 1600. (In fact all these names go back many hundreds of years.) Hägelåkra is a community near the Mälilla railroad station. Emmenäs is a little place where the Eman and the Silverån meet. (Ån means river.) The emigrating families mostly departed from the family farmstead at Emmenäs. In current family records the nearby communities of Tigerstad and Sinnerstad appear.

GENERATION 00

The grandparents of Johan Isacsson (Generation I).

In 1724 cavalryman Måns Danielsson married Kerstin Olofsdotter, both of Hagelsrum.

In 1736 a son was born and was named Isaac. No record given us of any brothers and sisters. The spelling of Isaac apparently changed as he grew up. In fact, many of the spellings in the older records seem to differ from those in other family records. No doubt there were real changes as well as careless recordings. For example, many of the girls named Stina may have been Kristina, Christina, etc. Throughout this report we have used the name given us by the most trustworthy source. The connections probably will not get lost because of this confusion.

GENERATION 0

The father and mother of Johan Isacsson (Generation I)

Isack Månsson, now of Hägelåkra, married Stina Persdotter in 1768. Stina, born 1746, was a daughter of Erland Persson and Sara Nilsdotter of Hägelåkra.

Their son Johan was born in 1769 in Hägelåkra.

GENERATION I

Johan Isacsson, by now an assistant innkeeper, married a widow, Marie Johansdotter Sjöstrand, of Mälilla, in 1798. She had been born in Wirserums in 1759. Her first marriage in 1779 was to cavalryman and innkeeper Samuel Sjöstrand.

By this first marriage there were four children surnamed Sjöstrand: Eva Stina, 1781; Lena Caisa, 1786; Fredericka Maria, 1791; and Carl Frederick, 1793. In 1797, Samuel died in Mälilla (at Annegård which seems to be a sub-community). This family of four children, though quite remote, belong to the clan we are describing. Henry S's report follows them, however, only to about 1840.

Johan Isacsson in marrying a widow (ten years his senior) took over the family of four children and also became proprietor of the Sjöstrand inn. Apparently the two children of the new marriage of Johan and Stina were also named Sjöstrand. This was a period when the old -son and -dotter plan was disappearing; stable surnames were being adopted for families.

II-1. Hedvig Charlotta Sjöstrand. Born 1800. There is no record of her after 1827.

II-2. Carl Johan Magnus Johansson Sjöstrand. Born 1802.

GENERATION II

Carl Johan Magnus Johansson Sjöstrand -- Carl Johan for short -- was born in 1802 and was 26 years of age when he married Anna Stina Danielsdotter, aged 19.

Her parents were Daniel Nilsson of Mälilla, born 1787 and Sofia Andersdotter of Mälilla, born 1787. They had three children, of which Anna Stina was the second. At the time of marriage she was living at Emmenäs and upon marriage to Carl Johan the young couple took over her parent's farm, Emmenäs No. 2. Emmenäs No. 1 was occupied by Carl Frederick Sjöstrand, his half-brother.

In 1956 your reporter visited Emmenäs and saw the site of these farmsteads. The old buildings are gone and one quite modern farm home stands on the place. It is occupied by a farmer whose wife is a daughter's daughter (see below) of Klas Erik Sjöstrand. The farmstead stands on a beautiful piece of land; over the generations many a member of the families must have looked with delight at the trees and meadowland bounded by the two crystal-clear streams which join to form a good-sized river.

Carl Johan and Anna Stina had eight children, who constitute Generation III. All were born on this farmstead. As shown below these were the eight children who had to make the decision to stay in Sweden or to emigrate to America, an idea which had considerable appeal, not the least of which was due to a period of crop failure in central Sweden. (Martin Sjöstrand, see below, has written a small novel on this period, "Brödlösa Bröder." See also, Vilhelm Moberg's "Unto a Good Land.")

The eight children, Generation III, were:

Johan August	Stayed in Sweden; some children emigrated.
Klas Erik	Stayed in Sweden; some children emigrated.
Anna Lovisa	Stayed in Sweden; some children emigrated.
Carl Gustav	Came to America; some children born in Sweden.
Mathilda Marie	Came to America; some children born in Sweden.
Alfred Ferdinand	Came to America; all children born in America.
Otto Frederick	Came to America; only child born in America.
Adolf Ferdinand	Came to America; no children.

THE FAMILY SPREADS OUT ---- IN SWEDEN AND AMERICA

Let us document these eight children of Carl Johan Magnus and Anna Stina. We give only a brief description -- birth, death, marriage, etc., plus the same information about their children who constitute Generation IV. We hope that Henry S. can give us more complete data on the families which stayed in Sweden.

GENERATION III and GENERATION IV
